

Vasundhara, the Eco Club of CIC, DU was launched in September 2013 and is making efforts to generate environmental awareness in the students. The conservation of our common environment can only be achieved through environmentally aware and responsible citizens who understand the need of maintaining a balance between environment and development, to and ensure sustainable development. The world seems to be approaching its doom. Environmental hazards are on the rise and the Earth's natural resources are depleting. In such a scenario, Vasundhara aims to encourage CICians in becoming more considerate towards their home, the Planet Earth! The initiative was started by Dr. Govind Singh with Dr. Asani Bhaduri and other faculty members taking it forward since then.

Nature-walk at Yamuna Biodiversity Park

Vasundhara Eco Club is working with the following objectives:

- Work to improve the environmental performance of CIC
- Generate environmental awareness among students at CIC
- Create and maintain Eco Clubs Network in University of Delhi
- Organise Ecotourism Expeditions in and around Delhi
- Host and participate in environmental festivals, campaigns, and cleanliness drives

In the past few years Vasundhara has organised nature walk in North Delhi (Kamla Nehru) Ridge, Aravalli Biodiversity Park, Yamuna Biodiversity Park and few other nature reserves. The Eco club has also organised talks on biodiversity, bird-watching, wildlife photography and conservation success stories.

Nature-walk at Aravalli Biodiversity Park

Peafowl at Kamla Nehru Ridge