

Design / Photography Competition for the Cover page of DU Journal

Last Date of Submission

30 March 2016

Submit entries at

coverdujournal@gmail.com

The Delhi University Journal of Undergraduate Research and Innovation (DUJURI) was successfully launched in February 2015. The journal is a refereed journal of international repute with ISSN 2395 – 2334. The journal aims at disseminating academic articles based on original research work from faculty members and students' research projects funded by external agencies or the University and from project work accomplished through various programmes.

Three issues of the first volume of the online research journal have been released so far and the response has been extremely encouraging and motivating for the students as well as faculty members engaged in undergraduate research.

The second volume of the journal has been planned with a new look that will be adopted for future issues. The look is expected to reflect the ethos of the University.

A design/photography competition for the cover page of the DU journal is being organized for getting entries of students, faculty members for the cover. One entry per person along with a write-up of 150 words explaining the theme of their design/photograph (What it depicts and why do you think it is appropriate for the cover of the journal) may be sent to coverdujournal@gmail.com by 30 March 2016. Please make sure to mention your name, designation, course, college, email address, mobile number in your mail.

The selected picture will win a cash prize of Rs 5000/- along with the name and description being mentioned on the inside as the Designer of the cover.